

SMART adds fully integrated Doctors Rostering to its suite of Health Workforce Management solutions

All NHS staff groups including junior doctors and consultants can now be managed from a single system from SMART

SMART, a leading provider of workforce management solutions, has extended its offering to the NHS with the addition of fully integrated SMART Doctors Rostering. SMART Doctors Rostering enables Trusts to manage all staff including nursing, medical, operations, ancillary, temporary (agency and locums) and admin, using one central system.

Benefiting from the same look and feel interface as SMART's highly acclaimed eRostering for nursing staff, SMART Doctors Rostering enables medical staffing officers and managers to build rosters quickly and efficiently. The system helps Trusts to reduce the reliance on costly locums while meeting EWTD and maintaining and improving patient care.

SMART Doctors Rostering provides a wide range of features designed to streamline the smooth running of wards and departments. This includes powerful reporting capabilities so that managers and department heads can see at any time details of breaches in working time regulations, absence and sick leave, holidays taken and entitlement yet to be taken, and locum use.

Liza Wolvey, Project Manager for eRostering at Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust where SMART Rostering for both doctors and nurses is in use commented, "SMART Doctors Rostering enables us to manage doctors' absence, and monitor those on call, right up to and including consultant level. We are able to demonstrate that all medical staff hours are planned in compliance with working time regulations. Maintaining safe working conditions for doctors means better quality of care for patients. Having one system that provides rostering for all types of staff has simplified operations significantly. "

Tristan Spencer, Health Market Director at SMART said; "SMART Doctors Rostering is a natural extension to our already comprehensive suite of health service workforce management solutions. Now fully integrated, SMART Doctors Rostering enables managers to plan ahead, while providing the flexibility to meet requirements for safe day to day operations and adhere to Working Time regulations. "

For more information contact:

Paski Matarazzo Marketing Manager

SMART.

Tel: 01438 822229

